Reds Are Claimed To Have Million Soldiers in Korea

ADVANTAGE IS TAKEN WHILE PARLEYS FAIL

London (P)—Lord Alexander, Britain's defense minister, said today Communist forces in North Korea have been almost doubled since the cease fire talks began last July.

He said the Communist forces now are not far short of one million men compared with just over 500,000 last July. He added that the reinforcements were mostly Chinese.

"The Communist forces have taken full advantage of the lull in the fighting to reinforce, reorganize and re-equip their armies," he told the House of Lords.

Panmunjom, Korea (P)—The United Nations truce delegation today for the first time gave the Communists a list of questions used in screening captured Reds on whether they would return to Communist territory.

The Allies say that only 70,000 of 169,000 captured soldiers and civilian internees have said they would return willingly.

The official list of questions: 1. "Would you like to return to China, North Korea?" If the answer was yes, the prisoner was listed for repatriation without further questioning.

2. "Would you forcibly resist repatriation?" If the answer was no, the prisoner was listed for repatriation. If it was yes, he was asked additional questions:

3. "Have you carefully considered the important effect of your decision on your family?"

4. "Do you realize that you may stay at Kojie for a longer time than those who choose repatriation and have already returned home?"

5. "Do you understand that the United Nations Command has never promised to send you any certain place?"

6. "Despite your decision, if the United Nations Command should repatriate you, what would you do?"

The prisoner was listed for repatriation unless he mentioned suicide, fight to death, escape, braving death or similar intention to avoid a return.

30-MIN. HONEYMOONS RULED FOR HUNGARY

Washington (P)—Communist rulers of Hungary have streamlined the marriage ceremony so that newlyweds can hurry back to their factory jobs 30 minutes after they are pronounced man and wife.

This obviously represents great progress, says a Hungarian Communist newspaper, since previously each couple took an average of two days off from work.

CONTINENT-WIDE AIR EXERCISE IN JULY

Many Units In Line Of March For Pleasant Township Parade Planned on Saturday Evening

Mobile X-Ray Unit Open to Public For 4 Hours Thursday

With many requests received from the general public for opportunities to have chest X-rays taken while the mobile unit is in Warren, the Warren County Tuberculosis Society has arranged two periods for the public on Thursday.

The mobile unit will be on Liberty street at the Penelec building from 8 to 10:30 a. m. and from 1 to 2:30 p. m., Thursday, and will be open to the public during those hours.

PASSENGER DIES, IS DRIVEN 119 MILES

Jersey City (P)—An Atlantic City bellhop drove more than 100 miles yesterday with a dead man as his passenger—but didn't know it.

The bellhop, 45-year-old James Baymore, has been hired by Andrew Butterworth, 58, of Queens Village, N. Y., to drive him home after he became ill while on vacation.

Baymore told police he and Butterworth talked for about 10 minutes at the start of the trip, and then he thought his passenger fell asleep. But when they reached the entrance to the Holland Tunnel here—about 119 miles away from Atlantic City—Baymore said he couldn't rouse Butterworth and headed for St. Francis Hospital.

Hospital authorities said Butterworth died of a heart attack shortly after leaving Atlantic City.

HOME LIFE AGENTS PLAN STATE STRIKE

Bethlehem (P)—Agents of the Home Life Insurance Co. have voted 165 to 22 to authorize their negotiating committee to call a strike in Pennsylvania and Delaware if wage talks collapse by June 1.

Joseph M. Walsh, international representative of the Insurance and Allied Workers Union, CIO, said yesterday agents want equalized salaries paid employees who have been with the firm for several years and those paid new employees.

In addition, he said, agents are asking for a cost-of-living increase because they have not received a salary boost since 1949. Company spokesman not available for comment.

Present wage scales were unavailable.

Loophole Claimed By State Truckers

Harrisburg (P)—Trucking interests looked to the State Supreme Court today to support their claim that there is a loophole in the 45,000-pound truck weight limit law.

The high court took an appeal under advisement yesterday after the Dillner Transfer Co., Pittsburgh, contended that the actual ceiling for truck-tractors with semi-trailers is as high as 56,000 pounds.

Secrecy Surrounds Plans for Shopping Center on Route 62

Complete secrecy seems to shroud tentative plans for construction of a modern shopping center on Route 62 at North Warren, but a Times-Mirror reporter was able to secure a confirmation today that the rumor is more than just that.

A local law firm has been engaged to represent the potential investors is well known, but it is understood the attorneys are pledged to secrecy regarding the names of those interested or their plans.

Rumors today that Horne's of Pittsburgh, Bigelow's of Jamestown, and the Emery interests in Bradford, may be involved in the deal could not be confirmed nor were they denied. A North Warren business man said he had heard all three mentioned.

North Warren residents who said their source of information was authentic advised today that plans for the new venture, while formative, call for considerable filling in west of the highway, and even for the changing of the course of Jackson Run a few hundred feet north of Venturatown.

Owners of property along the main highway have been approached, but up until 2 p. m. today it was understood no sale had been made. It also was reported that an offer was made to lease certain property on the west side of the highway.

Voting that ranged from quiet in Connecticut to near riots in Texas tightened both the Republican and Democratic races for presidential-nominating votes today.

Fighting Texans started out with two conventions yesterday and wound up with four. Each put up delegations to the national conventions in July at Chicago, where the question of which to recognize must be decided.

Connecticut's Republican convention at Hartford named a 22-vote delegation and, in Florida, Democrats in a primary elected a delegation with 24 votes.

The upshot: Gen. Dwight Eisenhower pulled within 22 votes of Ohio Sen. Robert Taft in the Republican pre-convention vote-gathering. Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia apparently jumped ahead of W. Averell Harriman in the Democratic race.

Hence, the Associated Press tabulation of nation-wide delegate strength—based on concessions, pledges, instructions and avowed preferences—now shows:

Republican—Taft 404, Eisenhower 382. Nomination requires 604.

Democratic—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee 122, Harriman 85½, Russell 86½. Nomination needs 616.

Florida Democrats divided their 24 convention votes apparently on the basis of 19 for Russell and five for Kefauver. Primary returns pointed that way, but were coming in slowly and could change the spread.

Texas Republicans met at a Mineral Wells convention to name a 38-vote delegation. Many Eisenhower backers were denied seats at the meeting, and they walked out and set up their own state gathering.

While the Taft-dominated convention picked a delegation lined

Reassignment of Pupils And Teachers of Johnson School Is Announced For Next Year

The following announcement in regard to the reassignment of pupils and teachers of Johnson School for the period of time required for construction of the new elementary school in Conewango avenue, was issued today by Carl E. Whipple, superintendent of schools:

"With the signing of the contracts for the new Jefferson Street Elementary Building, the question naturally arises—what happens to the boys and girls in this district? All of the pupils who will be attending schools on the east side of town were located on seven different city maps. These maps were studied to find the best location for the boys and girls during the 1952-1953 school term. After the assignments were made, it was readily apparent that quite a number of the students would be inconvenienced during the year the building is in progress.

"Beginning in the Conewango section, as many pupils were sent to the Home Street School building as was thought wise. It is the desire of the School Board and the administration that no more than thirty pupils be in any elementary classroom. This is the standard suggested by the state. For this coming school term, that number was moved to thirty-five for the Home Street School classrooms.

"In the preliminary planning, a combination first and second grade was placed at Home Street School. The spot map showed that this was not possible. There are not enough boys and girls living in this area for the first and second grades. Instead, the first and second grades were placed at East Street School and Mrs. Rose Lee Sprague, a primary teacher from Johnson, will teach this group. Of necessity, the remainder of the pupils in this area will attend South Street School.

"The South Street building is not large enough to accommodate all of its present pupils and the additional ones from Johnson, so there were many transfers to the Lacy Building. In each case, the spot maps were used to determine these transfers. Interested citizens may see the maps in the office of the Superintendent of Schools if they would care to.

"The other teachers in the Johnson Building are transferred as follows: Miss Ellen Thoreson, Miss Marie Gaghan and Miss Clementine Weaver will be teaching at the Lacy Building. Miss Margaret Corbin, Miss Viola Flowers, Miss Edith Erickson, Miss Frances O'Neill and Mrs. Mable Bailey will be teaching at South Street School. This will make use of all of the first and second floor classrooms in the South Street building and all of the classrooms in the Lacy Building except the auditorium and the classroom used as a stockroom.

"Mr. Jerome Paul, the maintenance manager for the School District, and the janitors of the Lacy and South Street buildings have completed the renovation of the unused rooms so that they will be pleasant and suitable for use this coming year."

SUICIDES IN GARAGE WHERE WIFE DIED

Pittsburgh (P)—Robert Griffin, 14, of nearby Bridgeville, found the body of his father, Henry, in the family garage yesterday—a victim of a gunshot wound in the head.

It was the same place he found his mother's body eight days earlier where she had died of carbon monoxide poisoning. The coroner's office called both deaths suicide.

PUT ON PROBATION AFTER KILLING WIFE

Pittsburgh (P)—Walter J. Simcox, Pitcairn factory worker, was placed on a year's probation yesterday after pleading guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the death of his wife last Oct. 30. A murder charge was dismissed when Judge John T. Duff ruled the state failed to prove intent to kill. Simcox admitted striking his wife.

LAST CLASSES ARE HELD FOR SENIORS

School days are over . . . for members of the 1952 graduating class of Warren High School.

Seniors attended their final classes today and on Thursday morning will receive the caps and gowns and commencement tickets that spell the end of their high school days.

The next few days will be filled with last minute activities that include the junior-senior prom on Thursday night; Class Day dinner Saturday; baccalaureate Sunday evening; Class picnic at Midway Park on Monday; and commencement at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday in First Presbyterian church.

HOMES FOR AGED MUST HAVE STATE LICENSES

Harrisburg (P)—Hundreds of boarding homes for the aged have failed so far to apply for state operating licenses required under a new law.

The law, which went into effect on Sept. 20, 1951, brings boarding homes for old people under state regulation for the first time.

Although there are more than 500 of these homes in the state, the Welfare Department said today it has received license applications so far from only 162 places.

Fire Departments Are Entering Units For Jaycee Parade

Five area fire departments have entered units in the July 4th parade in Warren and two new drum corps outfits have entered the competition for that day. It was learned last night when The Junior Chamber of Commerce celebration committee met with General Chairman Jack Barr at the American Legion Home.

The committee evidenced much interest in Kane's entrance of a unit for the drum corps competition in the Class C division, and the Kane fire department also will be in the parade. Other nearby fire departments entered are Pleasant township, Russell, West Hickory, and Sugar Grove.

A new entry in the Class A drum corps competition is the VFW Post 1462 of Wormleysburg, Pa., which will be the first time its men have appeared here. The other two Class A entries already received are from the Rochester Legion, the unit formerly sponsored in Greece, and the Brockport VFW group, the latter two being keenly competitive.

The next celebration meeting will be on June 10 when the entire Jaycee membership will meet with the committee.

BIBLE TEACHING

BIBLE TEACHING ABOUT PRAYER

Lubricate the affairs of your life with prayer and things will run smooth. Prayer is a spiritual rainmaker which causes showers of blessing to come upon you. Enough prayer can untangle the entanglements of life.

Prayer warms you up and takes the spiritual chill out of life. Prayer keeps you from making a lot of wrong decisions. Prayer is the greatest protection on earth. When trouble knocks, pray and let Jesus answer the door.

He who doesn't pray is unsociable with God. Prayer gives you a jubilee in your soul. Prayer puts you on the Hallelujah side. If you spend the time praying that you spend worrying, you'll get somewhere. Much prayer can help you out of a jam and cause you to enjoy the spiritual honey from the Lord. Prayer is more than just asking things, it's to get you into a spiritual walk and fellowship with God Almighty.

Prayer is like vitamin pills to the weary. Prayer gives you a lift without a let-down, makes you feel like a million dollars. You can do the things you could not do otherwise. When you finish your prayer, always ask it in Jesus' name. Asking your prayer in the name of Jesus is like putting the signature on a check. Jesus said in John 14:13: "And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son."

BIBLE TEACHING ABOUT SALVATION

The Bible teaches that Jesus is the way to be saved, there is no other way. The Bible teaches that if you have Jesus, you are saved, if you don't have Him, you are lost. The Bible teaches that there are two kinds of people in the world—saved and lost. Those who have Jesus are the saved, those who don't have Jesus are the lost. Jesus is salvation, there is no other. If you have Jesus, you have salvation, if you don't have Him, you don't have salvation. There is no other way to get salvation because He is it.

The Bible teaches if you have Jesus, you're traveling on the narrow way that leads to life eternal. If you haven't got Jesus, you're traveling on the broad road that leads to destruction. Anyone who has found Jesus, has made a success of life, anyone who has not found Him has made a failure of their life. The purpose of life on this earth is to find Jesus, and when you have found Him, you have found eternal life. You are put in this world that you might have an opportunity to find eternal life, and when you have found Jesus, you have found it.

BIBLE TEACHING ABOUT HEALING

After looking at the greatness of God's creation round about us it shouldn't be hard to believe that He can heal the sick and afflicted.

After reading in the Bible how God performed the first operation with anesthetic on Adam, removed a rib, closed up the flesh thereon, it shouldn't be hard to believe that God can heal the sick in this present time.

The healing power of Jesus is unlimited. The man Jesus healed by the pool of Bethesda had been that way for 35 years. The young man Jesus delivered of epileptic fits had been that way from his childhood. The woman bowed together, whom Jesus made straight, had been that way 18 years. The woman Jesus healed of an issue of blood, had been that way 12 years. The blind man to whom Jesus gave sight was born that way. Lazarus, whom Jesus raised from the dead, had been that way four days, and afterward he walked the streets openly as a great testimony of the power of Jesus.

Jesus not only healed thru His own hands, but also thru the hands of His Apostles, and many others, and He still does much healing thru certain of His chosen ones who lay hands on the sick in this present time.

A healing from Jesus is not only a deliverance from sickness of the body, but often brings a blessing to the soul.

BRANTFORD, ONT. CANADA —Mrs. D. I know it is your prayers and my faith in God that has done this."

ELBERTON, GA., Mrs. E. Testifies: "I asked you to pray for my unspoken request. Now my husband has a good job, thank you for praying."

BRANTFORD, ONT. CANADA —Mrs. D. Rejoices: "I used the Instruction Sheet, and after about 6 days I spoke in tongues. A great peace settled over me, and when I prayed, the prayer seemed so real."

KINSTON, N. C.—V. N. Rejoices: "I have received the baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire. I followed directions carefully. Within 10 minutes during the praise, I began to stammer, then words began, and finally I was just talking clearly in a different language."

GUELPH, ONT. CANADA —Mrs. M. Testifies: "I wrote and asked for prayer for my unspoken request. It's wonderful how God answers prayer. Help came to us from people and sources we never imagined help could come from."

ROUND OAK, GA., From Mrs. T.: "I wrote you about a year or so ago about diabetes, and praise the Lord, I'm healed of it thru the Lord and your prayers."

Oil City Man To Be Interviewed On Popular Program

Robert Lowers, Valley View Turkey Farm, Oil City, will be a guest on the "Let's Go Visiting" farm interview program carried by transcription over 28 radio stations.

The Lowers interview can be heard in this area from station KDKA, Pittsburgh, Tuesday, June 3, at 6:49 a. m.

Med Maxwell, "America's most traveled farm radio man," will interview Lowers. "Let's Go Visiting" specializes in farm visits, or in places and functions of special interest to farmers.

This interview is one of the rare ones in which Med Maxwell brings a man to the "Let's Go Visiting" microphone a second time. Two years ago when Lowers was interviewed for this program, he outlined some aims. Among these was the tripling of turkey poult output. Now he will explain the planning and work that reached the aim in two years.

During 1952, Lowers will hatch 50,000 turkey eggs in his own hatchery. He will raise 12,000 turkeys—all White Hollands—sell about 38,000 poult. He expects a hatchability of 85 per cent and an output of 40 poult per turkey hen. He will explain feeding and management needed to accomplish this high goal.

The "Let's Go Visiting" program has been popular with both rural and city listeners for more than a decade. Med Maxwell, the interviewer, has traveled more than a half million miles in rural America since the radio program was established. "Let's Go Visiting" is sponsored by the manufacturers of Wayne livestock and poultry feeds as a means of letting people "travel" by radio to visit interesting people and places in many states.

KIWANIS MEETING

Rev. Fred Hunt of Meadville was the speaker at last evening's meeting of Youngsville Kiwanis club, presenting a thought-provoking talk on the subject, "Free Men—How Come?" Rev. Hunt stressed four points as principles for freedom: to think, to act, to love, and to trust in God. He went on to say that the main problem of the world is a problem of character and that the principles of universal brotherhood, which should be the result of freedom to think, have not come about as have material phases of life. President Ray Weber announced that club members would hold another work session on "Operation Shrub" at Island Park on Thursday evening.

CAUTION - - - HOLIDAY DRIVERS

More accidents occur on Pennsylvania highways on Memorial Day when the holiday falls on a weekend than in the middle of the week, Col. C. M. Wilhelm, State Police Commissioner, warns.

Calling attention to the forthcoming weekend Memorial Day holiday, he urges motorists to drive as carefully in the May 30-June 1 weekend as they would if taking a test for a driver's license.

The last Memorial Day weekend holiday was in 1949 and in that year there were 19 traffic fatalities in the holiday period against 11 in the weekend preceding Memorial Day in 1950, and the same number in the pre-Memorial Day weekend last year.

"Memorial Day this year comes on Friday," Wilhelm says, "and the long weekend will tempt extra thousands of motorists to take to the roads. Statistics show that many drivers fail the test of safe driving over holiday weekends. Failure in this test may mean loss of life."

The Commissioner also cautions motorists not to attempt to crowd too many miles into too few hours. He urges them to be alert at all times and "to stop for a rest or a nap if they found themselves becoming road-weary or traffic-tired."

"Being in a hurry is responsible for many fatal accidents," he adds. "Posted speed limits indicate the maximum safe speeds under ideal conditions. Heavy traffic or bad weather may reduce the margin of safety."

SLOGAN BOOMERANGS

Supporting the Chinese Communists' "big lie" propaganda that the Allies used germ warfare in Korea, French Reds are going all out against Gen. Matthew Ridgway, General Eisenhower's successor as Supreme Commander of NATO forces in Europe. They call him "General Plague" and parade with placards saying "Ridgway Go Home."

The latter slogan, at least, will have little more effect on many Parisians than to produce a laugh. For it will remind them of the current gag of the year, which currently has Paris chuckling.

One of the Reds' favorite stunts is to go out at night and paint in foot-high letters, the slogan "Americans Go Home" on sidewalks or the walls of buildings. To one of these recently, some was added: "Via Pan-American Airways." It was a good gag, and everyone who hears it immediately bursts into laughter—unless he's a Commie, of course.

But it really has a significance deeper than a superficial expression of Gallic or American wit. For one thing, it uses the Commies' own anti-American propaganda to give an enterprise of the hated American invaluable word-of-mouth advertising as the joke spreads far and wide.

But even more important, it punctures a favorite Red slogan. For you may be certain that no one who has heard the "via Pan-American" joke can ever again see the line "Americans Go Home" without laughing.

The Metzger-Wright Co., is to be commended for making a valuable addition to the Warren Public Library in a 54-volume set of the Great Books of the Western World. It is such gifts that help to make the library one of the most cherished assets the community boasts.

Our congratulations and best wishes to the new officers of the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce, who may be depended upon to continue the fine record of achievements this outstanding organization has promoted in the past.

A project that deserves the support of everyone is being promoted by members of the Marconi Club for June 2 when a smoker will be held at the Outing Club to raise money for the purchase of a Seeing Eye Dog for a local resident.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the official orders for the second annual Pleasant Township Fire Department parade scheduled for Saturday evening indicating that the progressive organization has another interesting program lined up.

It will be well to remember that retail stores are planning to remain open Thursday evening until nine o'clock and will be closed all day Friday, Memorial Day.

A Boyhood Dream

1903 - THE BOY WHO WORKED AT THE ABILENE CREAMERY

Here And There

Greetings to those persons having birthdays tomorrow, the day before the holiday, including Art Mahaffy and "Doc" R. L. Young!

Here's a Memorial Day tribute that appeared in this week's issue of the Kiwanis Club Bulletin, which we take the liberty of reprinting at this time: When we look at our vast country with all its resources of wealth and power, at our system of free government with all the appliances for further advancement in greatness and intelligence, reaching as it does from ocean to ocean, with its fields, and mines, and streams, its hills and valleys, smiling in the sunlight of freedom, inviting the poor and oppressed of all lands to come and occupy them, to plow and reap, to build and grow, and be happy—when we look at all this and think what we would have been had the rebellion proved a success, we feel that our comrades did not die in vain, and we feel that this is but a small token, indeed, of the love that we ought to show their memories. What tender emotions are awakened today in our minds as we bend over the silent, yet eloquent, mounds where the American soldier sleeps his last sleep.

And here's another timely article a regular contributor mails in that others may have the pleasure of reading it: The men of many wars lie silent. Their names are etched on time-discolored tombstones and are unforgettably engraved on the hearts of all posterity. The battles they fought made history, yet to many of them the glory of victory was theirs on history's pages only, for they died before the dawn of peace was able to proclaim war's end. Let the men of today, and the children of tomorrow, know a greater victory in fighting the greatest of all enemies—war itself. Let there be no bloodshed, no maimed, no dead, but only life and strength with which to build a greater world, rather than to destroy the world and the brotherhood of man.

So on Decoration Day, when you place a wreath at the grave of someone loved and lost, pray that all those who are working for a world without wars shall attain their goal, that the aetons to come shall not know the pain of battlefield.

The State Agriculture Department reported that Pennsylvania produced 102,000 gallons of maple syrup and 27,000 pounds of maple sugar this year—a $300,000 crop. A shortage of help, high wages and the sale of trees for lumber limited production in many localities, but the state still topped last year's output of 98,000 gallons of syrup and 22,000 pounds of sugar. Increased operations in some sections with some trees being re-tapped for good yields offset a reduction in the number of trees tapped. The number of trees tapped this year was 414,000 compared to 422,000 a year ago. Syrup prices averaged $4.70 per gallon retail and $3.65 at wholesale. Reported prices for sugar averaged 78 cents per pound retail and 60 cents wholesale.

Lewis Mystery Is Absence Of Coal Contract Demands

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—One of the big mysteries in the current muddled labor situation is why John L. Lewis hasn't made known his demands for a new United Mine Workers' contract with the coal operators. They are actually overdue.

The contract under which the coal miners are now working expired March 31. Since Feb. 1, therefore, the door has been open for the UMW boss to give 60-day notice of a desire to terminate the present contract and negotiate a new one.

Speculation in labor circles is that Mr. Lewis might be waiting for a settlement of the steel wage case, the Supreme Court decision on the steel industry seizure, or the passage of his federal mine safety bill before reopening his contract.

The coal operators have another version. They know that the mine workers' chief business coal stocks above ground are at record highs and that the coal business is now worse than at any time since 1939. Under such conditions the operators might welcome a strike and are in no position to grant a wage increase.

The present coal contract gave the miners a 20-cents-an-hour raise to a $16.35 daily average. Before that, there was a nine-month intermittent strike ending in March 1950.

Regardless of the outcome of the steel seizure case now being pondered by the Supreme Court, Acting Attorney General Philip B. Perlman claims to have argued and won more government cases before this highest tribunal than any other solicitor general.

Confirmed five years ago, after Senate Republicans had blocked his appointment for over six months, Mr. Perlman has argued 59 cases before the Supreme Court, won 45 decisions and lost 10. Two of the cases are still undecided, one is being reargued and one is classified as neither won nor lost.

Among the important decisions which the solicitor general has won for the government are the ban on racial restrictive covenants, the railroad dining car segregation ban, the tidelands case giving the government title to marginal oil lands, the conviction of the 11 top Communist leaders and the establishment of constitutionality of the Smith act.

The Truman administration is having a tough time finding competent people to fill top defense jobs. Nobody is in sight for C. E. Wilson's vacated job as director of Defense Mobilization, and the only thing the Defense Mobilization agency has done since Wilson left is to name a new part-time advisory committee on machine tool production.

Henry H. Fowler, just confirmed as successor to Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischman, isn't expected to stay long. Nobody seems to want a job with a lame duck administration. The word that goes out is that the fourth team is now running things in Washington.

One of the next big labor cases, involving many defense orders, is General Electric. The company has contracts with 68 different labor unions.

Major contracts expire Sept. 15 and many others around that date, but they may be opened for re-negotiation on 60 days' notice.

G. E. has already offered the unions a 1.03 per cent wage increase to cover cost-of-living increases between last September and March. This, plus a 1.08 per cent cost-of-living increase and a 2.5 per cent general wage increase last September, would give G. E. employees a total wage raise of 4.61 per cent.

Twenty unions have accepted G. E.'s last offer. The others—including the two big ones—are now debating whether to accept this offer or whether to ask for more. The unions may also ask for a union shop, as the machinists and auto workers are now demanding at G. E.'s Lockland, Ohio, jet engine production plant.

The boys at the store decided it must be a little discouraging to Senator Kefauver to see how unpopular investigators are in his party. He undoubtedly knows where a lot of corruption bodies are buried. As a candidate for the Presidential nomination, that may not be exactly an asset with the professional politicians.

Plan Leisure as You Plan Work To Make Habit of Enjoyment

IT'S a matter of routine with many housewives to plan their week's work on Monday morning.

Well, how about taking time out Monday morning to make some plans for the family's enjoyment of the week to come, too?

Take a sheet of paper and divide it into three sections. On the first make a list of several things you would like to do this particular week. Maybe you'd like to lunch with a friend whom you haven't seen for some time. If so, call her up and decide on a day.

Perhaps you'd like to have several friends over for morning coffee or for an afternoon of sewing and talking. If you would, get that arranged. Now you've got something to look forward to yourself.

Next figure out what you and your husband might do together. Any shows you want to see? Any couples you would like to have to dinner? Any ball game or lecture or political meeting you might attend together?

JOT DOWN REMINDERS FOR HUSBAND

JOT down a few suggestions, so that you can say casually on Monday night: "I thought we might have a few couples in for supper Wednesday. Does that suit you?" or "We haven't seen a ball game this year—would you like to go to Friday night's game?" Then make a list of some things the family might do together—a picnic supper, a swim, a movie. Put down what you might do that week for fun as a family.

You don't have to stick strictly by the lists, but either do some of the things on the list or substitute others for them.

Don't just let this week drift along like last week, with nothing planned, and so eventually ending with nothing much done.

Plan your leisure the way you plan your work. Or you may, like so many women, find that life is mostly work with little fun.

Make Monday planning for the week's fun a habit, and enjoying life will get to be a habit, too.

Winners were selected from a preliminary showing of about 600 costumes, with 100 modeled in the show. Besides her prize winner, Miss Stone had three other entries chosen for the finals, a cotton faille with black braid, a black and chartreuse resort frock, and an antique silk shantung taffeta and braid gown for cocktails and the theatre. Modeling all her own designs, as well as one other entry, Miss Stone was named by the judges as "best model of the show."

Educator Speaks As Forty Win Diplomas

sional played by Irma Carlson. A vocal trio, unaccompanied, sang "Dona Nobis Pacem". The singers were Priscilla Ransom, Elsa Nelson, and Lois Palmer.

The salutatory address was given by Audrey Vivian Smith, who welcomed the assemblage and extended thanks to the parents and faculty for making possible the ceremonies. She said that she felt the halfway mark of the beginning of life had been reached at this point, and that from here on, some would be satisfied with purely material things, some with pure enjoyment, but that the dominant question is "Is It Worth While?" She felt that to be guided by that precept was the proper thing, and urged class members to be faithful to their God and their duty.

Elsa Nelson and Kenneth Gannon played Rhapsody in D Minor, by Federer, as a two-piano number, giving a better than average high school performance. Both are accomplished musicians for young people.

In the valedictory address, Anne Sweetland told of feeling about the same as four years ago when she entered high school, a little eager and a little frightened at the same time. She told that upon entering high school, the class could look forward to four years of expert guidance from the faculty, but that now were on their own for the most part.

She urged members to set a high goal, reminding them that they have thought a great deal as to what life will be, and that now is the time to put thoughts to practice. She pointed out that they were young and should have faith and courage, saying that the class has learned how to work during its school career through being shown the dignity of work by its teachers. If the faith and courage are held steadfastly, the future will be good, she concluded. Miss Sweetland also urged classmates to continue their high school friendships and contacts, and to not drift apart as so often happens.

Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of religious activities at Kenka College, N. Y., was the principal speaker, beginning his talk with high praise for the two girls and their fine speeches, saying that he had never heard better ones at any high school commencement.

Dr. Haines spoke of his own graduation from high school in 1932 and of the problem then of securing jobs. The situation is now different, with jobs waiting the graduates in most cases. He said he would like to ask three common questions which would be asked of all who applied for work: What is your name?, Where do you live?, and How old are you?.

Simple as these questions are, Dr. Haines said, they have a deeper meaning. The first, he pointed out, shouldn't make any difference in our democracy as it would in an old aristocracy. Your name is what you can make it, and remains good or bad regardless of its nationality, according to how you live.

The second question, he explained in terms of what are your real interests—what makes life worth living for you. He pointed out that education can be continued whether or not college is attended, and stated that all can live where and how they will.

The third question relates directly not to chronological age but to how mature and grown-up you are, how you manage yourselves, your jobs, and your relations with others. He told class members to be mature and to never be satisfied that they would be too grown-up.

Following Dr. Haines address, something new was added to commencement ceremonies in Youngsville when Supervising Principal Paul Getts presented four prizes for scholastic achievements, established for the first time by Youngsville organizations. The Kiwanis Club prize for outstanding agricultural student, based on scholarship, leadership, achievement and supervised farm practice, was awarded to Raymond Leofsky.

The Youngsville Business and Professional Womens Club prize for the girl with the high four year average went to Anne Sweetland; and the American Legion prize to the student with the highest four year average in history was also awarded to Miss Sweetland. The prize established by the Youngsville News for the letterman with the highest four year average was given to Stuart Bailey. It is expected that this list of prizes will be added to as time goes on, making possible recognition along purely scholastic lines.

Mr. Getts went on to say that the present class was the first welcomed by him as first graders when he assumed his duties in Youngsville 12 years ago, and that for that reason, he had a special interest in it. In the class are five from Brokenstraw township, one from Deerfield township, two from Eldred township, ten from Pittsfield township, and 22 from Youngsville borough.

Mr. Getts then introduced Mr. Day, who presented the diplomas and congratulated the class on its achievement. The ceremonies were concluded with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Fye, and the marching out of the class as Irma Carlson played the recessional.

When Cecelia Burke
de of Leo V. Rocks

9:00 a. m. Wednesday, May 28, in the presence of close friends gathered in Holy Redeemer church, a Cecelia Burke, daughter of late Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Burke, 22 Crescent street, became the bride of Leo Vincent Rocks, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. Rocks, of New Castle. The Rev. William Maloney read the service and celebrated the nuptials. Mrs. Thomas Donnelly acted as the organ for traditional music and the mass. The bride wore a street length gown of navy sheer, complemented with matching bolero, white lace-trimmed hat, blue and white accessories. Her shoulder corsage of red rosebuds and lilies of the valley, tied with gold colored ribbon, and her silver and rock crystal rosary was the bridegroom's gift.

Her only attendant was her cousin, Margaret Blair, of Tulsa, Okla., who wore a yellow flowered hat with a printed sheer frock, and had a matching corsage of yellow rosebuds tied with ribbons of the same shade.

Max L. Ryall served Mr. Rocks as best man.

A wedding breakfast followed immediately at the Hotel Carver, out of town guests being Mr. and Mrs. Max L. Ryall, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. John Leamy and son, Billie, of Erie.

Later, the couple left for a motor trip through western Pennsylvania and to New Castle to visit relatives and friends.

Highway Engineer Delivers Interesting Talk Before Association at Wellsboro

C. H. Buckius, chief engineer of the Highway Department of Pennsylvania, gave the main address at the mid-year meeting of the Roosevelt Highway Association of Pennsylvania at Wellsboro in the Penn Wells Hotel. He was introduced by Robert M. Sims of Scranton, president of the association.

Mr. Buckius stated that he was pleased to talk to such a large group of people all interested in highway improvement and promotion, even though their interest was centered on one highway, Route 6. He stated that the interest shown and action taken by the association throughout the past years had no doubt influenced more improvements on Route 6. By the continual close relationship with district engineers along the route, they were just not able to forget sections of the highway needing improvement. Mr. Buckius also stated that since 1946, 288 miles, or 72 per cent, of Route 6 in Pennsylvania has been reconstructed or resurfaced. This has been done at a cost of $26,000,000 and Route 6 across Pennsylvania is not only the most scenic route, it is also in good driving condition at present.

Speaking about Pennsylvania state highways in general, the chief engineer said that from some sources they were receiving complaint about too much money being spent on highways in urban areas as compared with rural areas, but quoting statistical figures, he assured those present that 75 per cent of all highway expenditures were being made in rural areas. icy road conditions are a real problem and expense, and he said that it was necessary for the highway department in the northern part of the state to clear highways on 135 different days last winter, but he felt a good job had been done.

Route 6 across Pennsylvania falls into four highway districts, all four district engineers being present at this meeting and following their chief, they spoke briefly about the condition of the highway through their district and improvements planned for this summer. The district engineers present were: Glenn D. Meyers, district 1; George E. Nagle, district 2; C.

WILLIAM L. HORNER

TO TALK TO OIL MEN—Importance of research in oil production will be discussed by William L. Horner of Tulsa, Okla., at the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association's 29th annual meeting June 5 in Hotel William Penn, Pittsburgh. Horner recently was elected vice president of Sunray Oil Corporation, Tulsa. He was manager of the secondary recovery department of Barnsdall Oil Company and continued in that capacity when Sunray bought Barnsdall. A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh as a petroleum engineer and geologist, he went with Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) and later with Humble Oil and Refining Company as a research engineer. His Pittsburgh topic, "Research Is Necessary in Production Engineering" is expected to include comments on the production research program of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association.

Owen Beckley, district 3; and Bernard J. Harding, district 4.

The Roosevelt Highway Association of Pennsylvania has four sectional vice presidents and President Sims presented them for reports on their sections. They are as follows: Mason B. Browning of Wyalusing, first vice president; Harry M. Engh of Edinboro, second vice president; A. R. Hill of Mt. Jewett, third vice president; and Phillip Hartigan of Honesdale, fourth vice president. J. H. Brandamore of Scranton has served faithfully as secretary and treasurer of the association since its formation in 1927.

There were 135 in attendance at the meeting, including Nat W. Drake, secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, he having attended a directors' meeting on Thursday evening, the night before the general meeting. Up for discussion at the directors' meeting were plans for the fall annual meeting which will be held in Wellsboro on Friday, October 17.

It is planned to make something special out of the annual meeting this fall, it being the 25th anniversary of formation of the association. The Pennsylvania group was the first organized but now there is a State Association in every state crossed by Route 6 from coast to coast.

Also discussed by the directors were plans for the new information and road maps which the association publishes every two years, enough being printed for distribution during the two-year period. The new edition will come out in '53. The current edition, of which 100,000 were published last year, is available at service stations, restaurants and hotels all along the route across Pennsylvania.

Funds to carry on the association's promotional activities are realized from membership donations received from interested business men and Chambers of Commerce located on the route.

Why send your out-of-town calls on a detour?

They'll go straight through when you

Call by number

Out-of-town telephone service is fast today. Most calls can be put through while you hold the line.

For the fastest possible service, call by number.

Here's why. Unless you give the operator the number of the out-of-town telephone you want, your call must be detoured through Information in the distant city. That takes time. Calling by number helps get you there faster—often twice as fast!

To help you have at your finger tips the numbers you need, we'd like to give you a Personal Telephone Directory. Jot down in this handy little booklet the numbers of out-of-town telephones you may have occasion to call. Ask the Business Office for your free copy.

MANIAC ESCAPES IN VIRGINIA, SLAYS 3

Leesburg, Va. (AP)—A woman and two men, one of them an airline pilot, were slain last night in a lonely farming section near

Va., who escaped two weeks ago from a mental institution at Staunton, Va.
The victims:
William Fitzhugh Fox, 70, his father.
Robert O'Connor, 34, Falls
Church, Va., a pilot for Capitol Airlines.

up 35 for Taft and three for Eisenhower, the other meeting named its own delegation—33 for Eisenhower and five for Taft.
At San Antonio, flats flew when Loyal Democrats bolted the Democratic convention to name their own 52-vote delegation. The convention, guided firmly by Gov. Allan Shivers, named an uninstructed delegation.
Shivers, a bitter critic of the Truman administration, favors
Russell. Of the walk-out group, many like Kefauver and others favor House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.
Iowa Democrats and Alabama
Republicans were naming convention delegates today—24 in Iowa and four in Alabama.

Senator William Benton, chairman of the board of directors of Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., and the editor is Robert Hutchens, former chancellor of the University of Chicago and now associate director of the Ford Foundation. One of the important features of the Great Books is the Syntopicon, which describes the structure and outlines the various ways in which the books can be used. Valued at $500, the set is now on display in the Metzger-Wright windows that local users may be familiarized with the fact that they are to be available at the Library.

The Nice Long Vacation

By William Neubauer

Chapter Seven

It was a good week for Jane, a week of hard work that left her bone-tired at the end of each day, so tired that she slept without dreams, horrible dreams, for the first time since the war. Now her Girl Scout training and Army Nursing Corps training came to the fore and served her in good stead. Before that week was out, Ken Wenslow was made to understand why she, not he, had been named recreation director of the small camp, and before that week closed Mr. Forsythe himself had occasion to congratulate himself again and again for having had the perception to give this job to a girl with no formal training in the art of making summer fun for people desperately in need of pleasure, relaxation. His tufted white eyebrows arched when he saw the play schedule she had drawn up by the end of that week. "You certainly don't intend to let anyone boss you, do you, Miss Bancroft? Well, we'll see. Personally, I think there ought to be more campfire meetings, but aside from that it's a grand schedule. Are you quite certain you're up to it?"

She laughed. "I've discovered an uncut diamond in Mike O'Reilly. He has just the kind of people, and, more to the point, he knows the woods around here as well as I know the lines on the palm of my hand. He'd make a grand assistant and I know he'd welcome the chance to prove he can do something other than maintenance work."

He was pleasantly surprised. "You have done very well, haven't you? I'm sure no one else in this camp took the trouble to become acquainted with so unimportant an employee as Mike. Well, I dare say we can spare him. George Poppleton of the next town has a man he wants me to employ. This will give us the chance to help him in his work. You should, incidentally, get acquainted with Mr. Poppleton. For a young man, he has a surprising approach to life, a most surprising one."

She colored with pleasure. It had always been like meat and drink to her to hear anyone say something nice about George. "I have every intention of seeing him one of these days, Mr. Forsythe."

He pursed his lips, and stroked his full white beard. "I might say, here and now, that I am very pleased with the way you have pitched in and helped us get ready for a good, active summer. Evelyn Moore, incidentally, is also quite pleased with you."

"I'm just as glad, though, that you didn't tell her about my service overseas. Evelyn Moore is—well, Evelyn Moore is what I was when I was her age. It would be difficult to live with her if she were always at me to get back into the glorious profession of nursing. I'll tell Mike."

"As you wish." He glanced around the attractive living room which also served as his office. "But one of these days, I expect, you'll get back into service. Mike, this concern for Mike, indicates that you aren't completely lost yet. Perhaps by the end of the summer."

"Perhaps."

Smiling, she turned nimbly and went running down to the beach. "You're promoted, Mike," she cried gaily. "From now on you must address me as Mrs. Bancroft. I'm O'M's boss now."

A very good week indeed, she thought, the sort of week she had hoped to enjoy at home.

But for Aunt Hattie in Pittsfield it had been a trying, soul-searching week. To do her duty or not to do her duty? That was the most vexing question she'd

Chapter Eight

AUNT HATTIE sat down, her eyes blinking furiously behind her thick lensed glasses. "Lily, the world is going to pot. Read the papers, see the motion pictures, listen to the radio. It's gone, all gone, that morality by which we lived."

Lily Goldsborough shrugged. "This business about the war is not any of your business, darling. It is her life, to do with as she pleases."

"But she is my niece!"

"She is twenty-nine, a woman who served her country so well in the last war that she was decorated by her government. She is an adult who has the right to make her own decisions about her own life her own conduct."

"No Bancroft has ever been mixed up in divorce proceedings."

"Perhaps this one won't be. You little girl, didn't it ever occur to you that she is in love with a dream? Good gracious, all girls have them at one time or another. She will see the dream for what it is, and then—"

"In the meantime there must hurt!" Aunt Hattie now her great loving heart rejecting that with-out reservation. "No. She will not learn these lessons that you think she must learn at the expense of others."

"Well, my advice is to leave well enough alone, darling. I'll tell you what. Instead of going home to write that letter, why don't you have supper with me? Then we'll discuss the virtues and failings of all my husbands."

"How did you know I was thinking of writing a letter?"

"I wrote about her niece, Jane, who is supposed to have known you overseas, and who is supposed to have designs upon you now."

"Jane Bancroft?" She stared, frankly bewildered. "Never heard of her. Say, let me see that letter!"

"It says here," Leslie read on, "that she was a nurse in a field hospital in France and that you—"

She halted. There was no reason to read more. Suddenly her husband's face held a pained expression.

"I see," she laughed shakily. "Am I supposed to be gleeful or what? Your past, your wretched past. How is a woman supposed to react when she learns that her darling husband is an unmitigated liar?"

Alarmed, he rushed around the table and pulled her up from the chair, pillowing her head on his shoulder, striving to comfort her, to reassure her. "Good heavens, the wretched, that certainly doesn't count. Why, she was hardly more than a flirtation! What's got into you?"

"Read the letter," she said shakily, half laughing, half crying. "Oh, read the wonderful, wonderful letter."

His eyes lightened and his blue eyes flashed. "I will do no such thing. I have nothing to explain, and that is quite enough nonsense for one day." He went back to his chair, looking so angry with her that Leslie promptly dropped the subject for the moment. "Sorry," she said tersely. "Want some more toast? I can recommend the toast. I scarcely ever burn the toast."

Her reward was a smile that went straight to her heart.

But after he had kissed her good-bye in his rough and tumble way, she went back to the table in the sunlit dinette and re-read the letter. And a fear gripped her heart.

"How did the likes of you ever get the likes of him?" she remembered her younger sister saying one day shortly after the marriage. "Coo, but you wouldn't never get no prize for your blooming beauty. I'll tell you that."

She went to the mirror in the living room. She looked at herself, at her long nose and bad teeth.

A rival. After all these years, a ghost from the past!

She sat down, feeling terribly alone in the vast land of the United States of America, terribly afraid.

Chapter Nine

GEORGE, more disturbed than he had allowed his wife to know, drove thoughtfully to the large brown-shingled building on the outskirts of Tuttleton which he had been able to turn into his fine industrial school at any time in the state. He was greeted at the gate by Mr. Johansen, a long, lean gentleman on crutches who smiled broadly as he laboriously swung the gate open wide enough to admit the car. "Nice morning, ain't it, Mr. Poppleton?"

"Yes, it's a fine morning," George agreed shortly. He glanced about the broad lawn and shook his head. "The lawn could use a raking, Mr. Johansen. I thought you promised me yesterday that you'd take care of it from now on."

Mr. Johansen stared. He had made no such promise, in the first place. In the second place he had never heard George Poppleton use such a tone. He studied the blond man who had appeared at the prison one day and had announced so cheerfully, "You're coming with me, Mr. Johansen. You're not a criminal; you're just a fellow who never had a chance. I'm going to give you that chance." He scratched his grizzled hair. "Something wrong, Mr. Poppleton? You look mad enough to chew nails and spit battlepieces. Something I can do for you?"

It brought George back to his senses. Embarrassed, he dug into the handkerchief pocket of his jacket and handed the man several cigars. "Sorry, Mr. Johansen. I guess I'm guilty of carrying my personal problems around with me. How are you coming along? Are you still convinced that cabinetmaking is not the trade for you?"

"I made a swell table last week," Mr. Johansen said with justifiable pride. "Mr. Thorson said it was the nicest table he's seen in years. Guess maybe I'll learn the trade after all."

"Good for you," George started his car again and drove slowly up the drive to the big entrance door. Though the hour was early, he could hear the humming of the various machines upstairs and the various made him feel better the instant he heard them. They made him feel better now. Looking around the office, thinking of all the good things he had managed to do since his release, he was in a good mood. He was in a good mood because it was difficult to believe that he wouldn't be equal to this new problem which the reappearance of Jane had posed. He had been a child then, a hurt, lonely child—now he was a man. Then she would have thrown him for a loop, but now he knew more about the world and people, now he could do whatever he had to do to make her understand, if she bothered him, that his feelings toward her had undergone a change. That was what the war had done for him. It had made him a man, a man able to face up to things as a man should.

He jerked himself from the reverie as a knock sounded on the door. "Come in," he called, and smiled as Mr. Thorson, a grimy apron around his middle, promptly opened the door. "Trouble now as it is, do you know what the City Council is thinking of doing? It is actually thinking of causing us to close down."

"You can handle them. I reckon," Mr. Thorson said, down before the desk and growled. "We got to have more equipment. I got a call from a parole board officer yesterday after you left, and he says he has a fellow he's sure we can help. That's our trouble. There's a lot of fellows we could help if we only had the equipment. I told this officer I'd talk to you."

"Well, I'm going to be able to place a fellow at Camp Joy, Mr. Thorson. So I guess we can use some relaxation. Perhaps I'll take a run over to Camp Joy and have a chat with Forsythe—and this Bancroft girl."

"And I wouldn't worry none about the City Council," said Mr. Thorson, a stocky man with a grim mouth and level eyes. "You got too many folks on your mind. They'll squawk, the City Council will, but in the end they'll do nothin' to hurt us. We're doing a good work, an' when you're done a good work there ain't nothin' that can hold you back for long."

Signing of Peace Treaty With Germany Is Latest Scene in Great Modern Drama

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington (AP)—What happened in German Monday—U. S., Britain, and France signing a peace treaty with Germany—is the latest scene in a great modern drama.

This treaty is part of a desire of the West to build such strength that the Soviet commissars would be forced into peace by fear of what faced them if they tried war. In the Eastern zone of Germany, occupied by Russia, about 18 million Germans live under the Communist thumb. The three Western zones—occupied by the U. S., Britain, and France—have 50 million Germans. And that Western area of Germany is the greatest industrial center in Europe.

When it became clear Russia wouldn't let divided Germany reunite except under Russian terms, the West let the Germans in their zones form the Western German Republic.

It is with that republic—not Russian-dominated Eastern Germany—that the peace treaty was signed today. It is not a complete treaty. The West didn't agree to relinquish all control.

For instance, it reserved the right to intervene if the Western German Republic was threatened with overthrow by internal revolt. In other words if the Communists tried revolution, the West could step in.

But the peace treaty itself is only preliminary to another scene which will be acted out tomorrow: letting Germany rearm and put troops in an international army.

When Russia had become too menacing, the West made the North Atlantic Pact, a military alliance among the nations ringing the ocean. But this alliance without arms was not much of an alliance.

And such an alliance without Germany, with its great resources and manpower, particularly if Germany were left loose to tie up with Russia someday, might be worse than no alliance at all.

So it was decided to take two steps almost simultaneously: (1) sign a peace treaty and (2) let Germany rearm a bit and get into the Western military alliance.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

COUNT EVERY TRICK TO BE BRIDGE WINNER

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

One of the most important differences between the expert and the average bridge player is that the expert counts his tricks. This may seem like a very simple operation, but somehow or other only the expert does it regularly. When today's hand was played, South ruffed the opening club lead and returned the king of hearts. East won with the ace of hearts and had to make the key decision immediately.

The average player would instantly return the jack of diamonds. This would allow the declarer to make his contract. South would win with the ace of diamonds, draw a second round of trumps, and lead his remaining diamond toward dummy. He would eventually discard a spade on dummy's queen of diamonds, after which he would need only a successful spade guess to make his contract.

When the hand was played, however, Leonard B. Harmon held the East cards. Mr. Harmon counted the defensive tricks and discovered that his side could win one trump and no clubs.

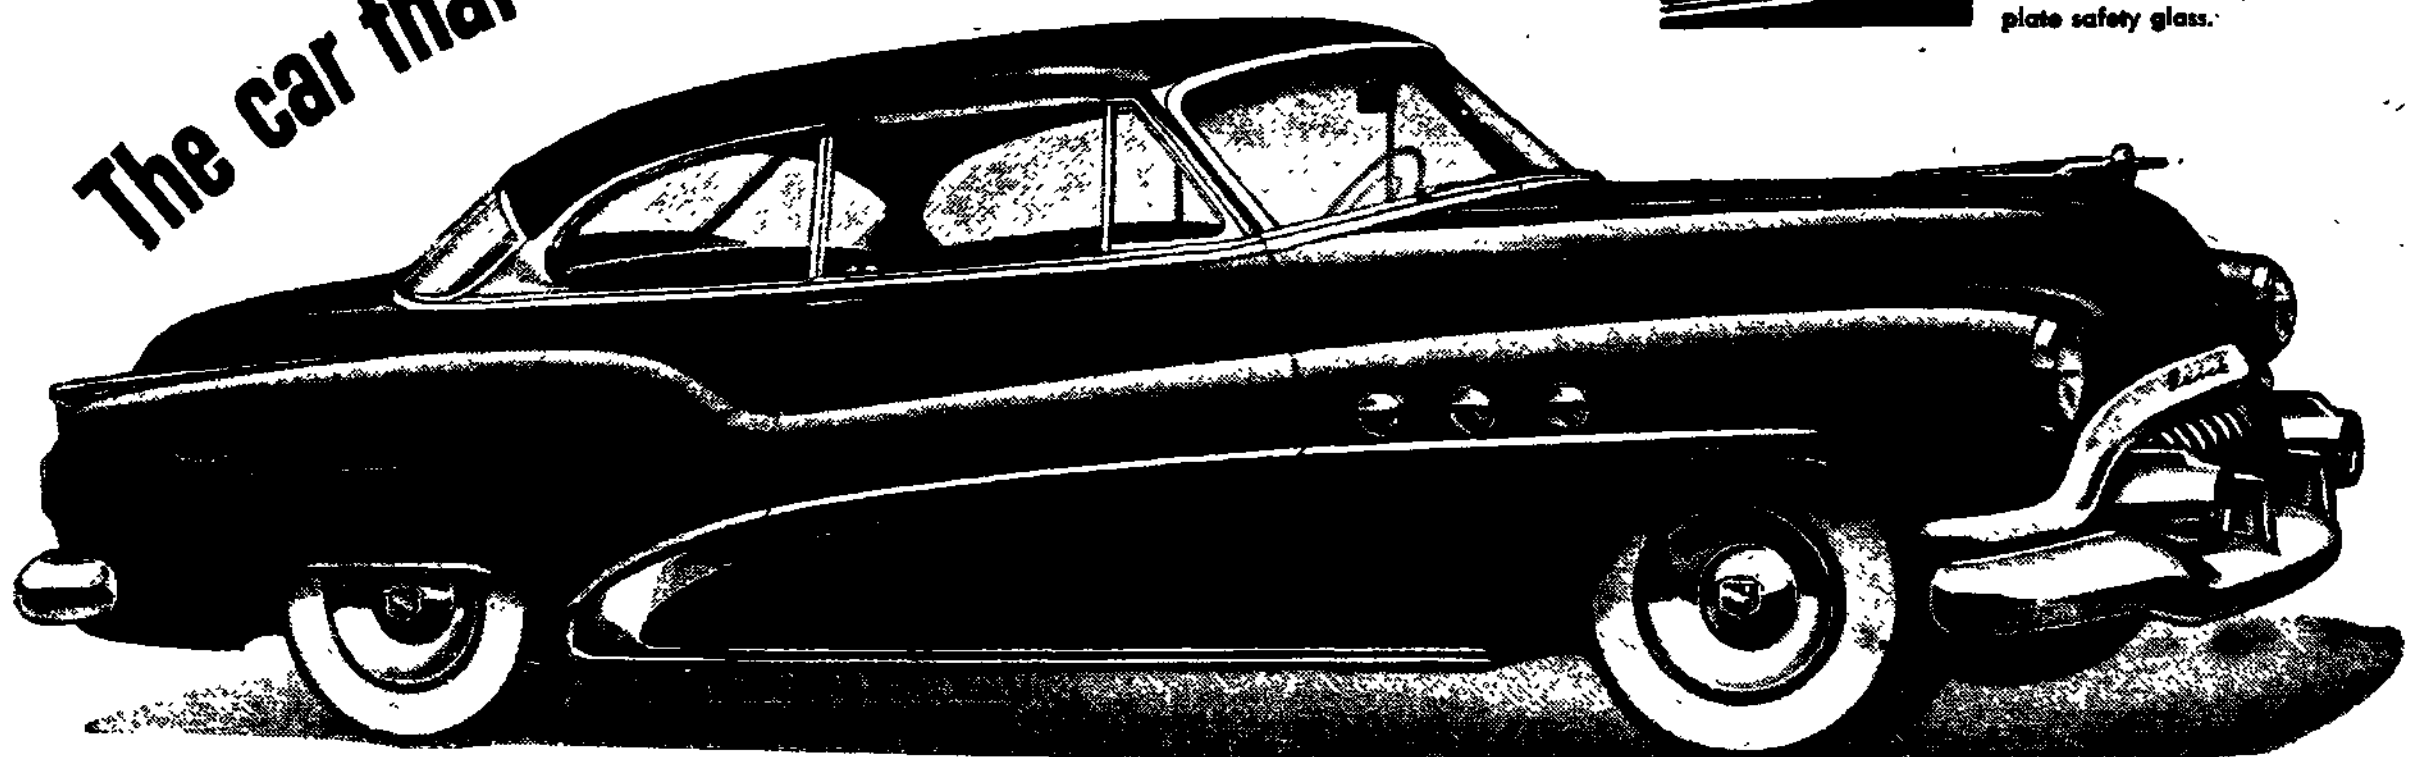

He could be quite certain that his partner had no more than one high card in diamonds, since if West held the ace and king of diamonds in addition to his strong clubs he would have taken some action during the bidding. Hence Mr. Harmon could expect no more than one diamond trick.

It followed therefore that the defenders needed two spade tricks to defeat the contract. These could be won only if South had three small spades—and only if East returned his lowest spade immediately.

After coming to this conclusion Mr. Harmon returned the four of spades. West played the queen and dummy won with the king. South got to his hand by ruffing a club and drew trumps.

He next tried to develop a diamond trick, but West stepped up to lead his remaining spade. Now Mr. Harmon could take the ace and ten of spades, defeating the contract.

The car that wears its own Sun Glasses

2-door, 6-passenger Super Riviera.

You may have to look twice to see it—but a lot of the new Buicks have a soft blue-green tone in all glass areas—plus a slightly darker band which shades down from the top of the windshield.

And you have no idea what comfort all this adds to hot-weather driving.

Its name is "Easy-Eye Glass"—which tells only half the story. While it filters out 18% of the glare (and tones down the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night)—it also cuts down sun-heat as much as 50%.

So it's the best cure we know for hot laps in summer driving, when the sun beats down on the windshield.

Maybe you'd like to try this out before you buy your next car.

And while you're trying it out—you can also discover how it feels to boss around a Fireball 8 Engine, that puts its own exclusive added wallop into a high-compression valve-in-head power plant.

You can sample the sure-footed way a Buick settles into a curve—the way the front wheels seem to seek their course automatically—the smooth surge and falterless ease with which Dynaflo Drive* feeds the power—the level confidence of Buick's million dollar ride.

You can get an idea also of the room, the comfort, the smartness, the thrill that your dollars buy in this brilliant performer.

So why not arrange for a demonstration soon?

Hal Boyle's Comment

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—It is hard to be hopeful about the future of Europe's venturesome six-nation army.

The diplomats hail this as a great striped-pants victory, but it is not in the bag as yet, and it remains to be seen whether the all-European army ever will march up a hill and down.

Even after the diplomats okay the creation of this strange hybrid military creature the parliamentarians back home have to vote the men and money to make it a reality. Until they do so this effort to restore stability in Europe must be catalogued only in the realm of verbal good will.

There are some basic facts that make it doubtful it will ever be a successful army.

Gen. Eisenhower has thrown the tremendous weight of his personality behind the project after first deciding it wouldn't work.

Most Americans can't even name the six nations who will contribute men to this 1 million-man force.

They are France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Belgium and The Netherlands.

Significantly, the French are scared to death of the West Germans, who are supposed to contribute 400,000 men, and the West Germans are reluctant as the devil to be committed to this effort because they really want to see-saw between the United States and Russia until they can again unite all Germans under one flag and one government.

For political reasons at home no major statesmen in either Britain or the United States has come out boldly in favor of making British and American troops constituent parts of the European army. But, looking at the cold facts of history, it is hard to see how a real European army can be welded without making both British Empire and American troops an integral part of that army.

They are in it, of course, as separate entities, by virtue of their membership in NATO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

But this half-partnership by two world powers, Britain and America, makes the smaller six nations of Europe feel a bit like catspaws before the vast power of Soviet Russia.

Hot Stove League Will Take Part In Parade On Flag Day; Uniforms Will Be Ready Soon

Meeting in Trinity Memorial Parish House, last night, members of the Hot Stove League committee voted to participate in the Flag Day parade and to hold here Saturday, June 14. His action was taken on a letter received from the Elks Lodge, sponsors of the program, and Roger Hendrickson was named to take care of the league's participation.

During the business session, which was under the chairmanship of Charles Musante, it was learned that the Wills Co. will have the league uniforms cleaned and ready by Friday, May 30. A committee made up of Mr. Musante, Ralph Aquino, Roger Hendrickson, Robert Anderson, Angus Bailey and Paul Masci, was appointed to meet at 7 o'clock next Monday evening to go through the supply and have canceled because of players on vacation be forfeited. The only time games will be called off will be because of weather conditions, and then, in plenty of time by the home team.

Because of the considerable waste of time at meetings due to discussing grievances, it was pointed out by the president that all meetings hereafter be confined to district chairmen and team handlers. Players who have complaints should take them to the special committee set up for this purpose.

In closing last night's session, President Musante reminded all team handlers that they must secure their equipment through their district chairmen, including bats and balls.

EXHIBITION GAME

An exhibition Hot Stove game between Youngsville and Irvine Midget and Cadet teams will be played on Wilder field at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. The teams are managed by George Simpson and Dick Wood, who cordially invite the public to attend.

Elimination of Top Golf Contenders Is Begun at Prestwick

Prestwick, Scotland (AP)—The top American contenders for the British Amateur Golf Championship start eliminating each other today now that they have worked their way through a large part of the British entries.

Stocky Frank Strafaci of Garden City, N. Y., meets happy-go-lucky Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., in a fourth-round match.

In a second all-American tussle, Ted Bassett of Westchester, N. Y., matches strokes with J. F. McNeilly, a member of the U. S. armed services in Germany.

Going into today's matches there were 20 Americans still in the field. When the shooting is over tonight, there can be a maximum of only 14 U. S. players left. The entire field will be slashed to 32.

Frank Stranahan, the Toledo belter, opposed a Scot, H. M. Gow, in the third round, but the local boy isn't expected to throw the scare into Frankie he received yesterday.

Joe Gent, 55-year-old Yorkshire businessman, had Stranahan two down with two holes to play, but the American won the 17th and 18th and went on to win the match on the 21st hole.

Pro Wrestling For Warren Considered

A decision will be made in the next day or two regarding the sponsoring of professional wrestling exhibitions in Warren during the summer months, by the Kiwanis Club as a benefit for the fund for underprivileged children. A conference was held Tuesday afternoon when the situation was considered from every angle and a tentative arrangement agreed upon. The first program would be presented at War Memorial Field under lights on the evening of July 24.

Dodgers Clipped By Barber Maglie, 3-0, In Sixth Straight

By JOE REICHLER
A. P. Sports Writer

If Brooklyn is in a lather today, blame it one New York's most distinguished barber, Salvatore Maglie.

His dreaded curve ball cutting the corner as sharp as a razor, Sal The Barber Maglie treated the Dodgers to one of his copy-righted clippings last night as he pitched the Giants to a 3-0 triumph.

The righthander strapped the Brooks with four meager hits. His earned run percentage is now 1.14.

It was the sixth straight Giant triumph and increased their National League lead over the Brooks to a game and a half.

It was the ninth straight win for Maglie, who has yet to taste defeat this season and has a 50-10 three-year mark.

Allie Reynolds of no-hit fame yielded only two safeties as he hurled the New York Yankees to a 7-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

Vic Wertz' three-run homer climaxed a six-run sixth inning outburst by Detroit to give the Tigers a 5-4 decision over the Indians.

Gus Zernial's two-run homer in the fifth and Eddie Joost's two-run double in the ninth gave rookie Harry Byrd his first win and the Philadelphia Athletics a 7-3 triumph over the Red Sox.

Saul Rogovin pitched the Chicago White Sox to a six-hit 3-0 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Enos Slaughter led the St. Louis Cardinals to an 8-5 win over the Chicago Cubs.

Eddie Pellagrini, subbing at first batted a 14-inning home run to give the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils split a two-night doubleheader, the Braves taking the first, 4-2, in 12 innings and the Phils coming back in the nightcap to score a 5-4 victory in 10 innings.

Hagerstown Leads, Lancaster Is Last

By The Associated Press

Both the pitching and the standings of the Interstate Baseball League are tightening up as the season gets into the second month of play.

The latest standings show 7½ games between the last place Lancaster Red Roses and first place Hagerstown. The Braves of Hagerstown hold a game and a half lead over Wilmington while three clubs, Allentown, Salisbury and York, all are three and a half behind.

Excellent pitching highlighted five games played last night. Ken Ptak tossed a two-hitter for Wilmington to down Allentown, 1-0.

Raol Lopez was touched for a pair of singles as he beat York, 2-0, for Sunbury in the opener of a doubleheader. Charley Locke limited Sunbury to three singles to gain a split for the White Roses, 3-1.

Maynard Snyder of Harrisburg scattered six safeties as the seventh place Senators shut out the league leaders for the first time this season, 4-0. Lancaster behind the six-hit hurling of Jack Cepilo broke a five-game losing streak to edge Salisbury, 4-3.

Ritter, Old-Time Catcher, Is Dead

Harrisburg (AP)—Louis E. Ritter, old-time major league baseball catcher, who claimed to have worn shin-guards before they became official, died at his home here last night. He was 76.

Ritter, a catcher for the Brooklyn Nationals from 1902 to 1908, had been in ill health for a year.

After his major league career ended Ritter played for Kansas City and Indianapolis of the American Association and later managed teams at Utica and Elmira, N. Y.

Groat Gets McKevlin Award As the Best Athlete In South

Greensboro, N. C. (AP)—Dick Groat of Duke, All-America in both basketball and baseball, today was announced as winner of the McKevlin Award, which goes to the outstanding athlete of the Southern Conference, for the second year in a row.

Groat was far ahead in the balloting of Southern Conference Sports Writers Association members to become the first repeat winner in the five-year history of the award, named in memory of the late sports editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, Anthony J. McKevlin.

The six-foot senior from Swainville, Pa., piled up a record vote of 199 points from the 49 ballots cast.

Coaching Marathon Revived at Devon, Jersey Horses Win

Devon (P)—A coach and four owned by Richard V. Gambrell of Peacock, N. J., won the Joseph E. Widner Trophy in a revival of the coaching marathon at the 56th annual Devon Horse Show and Country Fair.

An 8.6-mile course from Radnor Hunt Club to the Devon Horse Show grounds was covered yesterday by the winning coach in 45 minutes.

An entry of Dr. Clarkson Addis, Collegeville, Pa., placed first in the marathon's horse division with a time of 59 minutes.

The marathon, revived at the show after an absence of 10 years, was believed by a show spokesman to be the only one conducted in America these days.

Ping-Pong, a Greenwich, Conn., mount won a jump-off for first place after being tied for that position in the Professional Horseman's Association Challenge Trophy contest.

Second, third and fourth place honors in this event went to Joe Green with his Uniontown, Pa. horses, Royal Knight, Oregon Duke and Lovely Cottage.

Banton Is Showman When Elmira Wins

By The Associated Press

Nominations were in order today for Elmira's Herb Banton as the Eastern League's hardest-hitting pitcher.

The husky, blond Virginian staged a one-man show at Scranton last night as the Pioneers beat the Miners, 8-1, and vaulted into fourth place. Banton restricted the Miners to four hits and drove in three runs on two homers and a single.

Meanwhile, the Albany Senators opened up a three-game lead by beating Binghamton twice, 8-6 and 10-1. Schenectady settled for a split with Hartford, salvaging the second game, 12-5, after losing, 4-0, and dropped into third place, 14 percentage points behind the Reading Indians. The Indians regained the runner-up spot by sweeping a twin bill from the Williamsport Tigers, 6-0 and 3-2.

Gavilan Is Favored In Scrap Tonight

Indianapolis (P)—Kid Gavilan of Cuba leaves his world welterweight title at home but puts his reputation on the line tonight in a 10-round bout with Fritzie Pruden of Paterson, N. J.

Gavilan is the favorite. He had to finish fast to outpoint Pruden in a 10-rounder at Milwaukee a year ago, but Pruden has lost his last three bouts—two to Arthur King and one to Chico Vejar.

The fight will be Gavilan's last before his title defense July 7 against unbeaten Gil Turner of Philadelphia in the Philadelphia Municipal Stadium.

The fight will be telecast and broadcast by CBS at 9 p. m. EST.

District Grassland Field Day Will Be Held at Meadville

In Pennsylvania, greater emphasis is being placed on the importance of grasses and legumes and as a result, a Grassland Field Day for northwestern Pennsylvania has been arranged by the Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Agricultural Experiment Station of the Pennsylvania State College. This event will take place at the Crawford County Home Farm, located four miles north of Meadville near Saegertown on Friday, June 6.

The program from 10:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. will feature many exhibits and displays and demonstrations of interest to both men and women. Twenty-five demonstrations will be in continuous operation during the day. The men will have an opportunity to see forage harvesters in operation, wagons and wagon unloaders, sulphur dioxide gas being used in filling silo, pasture renovation by means of special tillage equipment, seeders adapted for sowing modern grasses and legumes, weed sprayers in operation, spittle bug control demonstration, seed treatment to control diseases, soil testing clinic, artificial breeding exhibit, sheep shearing demonstration, meat cutting, hay crushers in operation, hay baling, mow hay finishers set up, supplementary pasture for hogs, dairy feeds and feeding exhibit, irrigation of pasture, and planting of trees for reforestation.

Besides the demonstrations and exhibits, you will have an opportunity to see the research plots in which various grasses and legumes are being grown alone and in combinations. This should deserve the careful study of every farmer and in themselves would justify the trip.

Extension and research workers will be on hand at these and all other demonstrations to give you all available information.

In addition to a complete line of machinery designated to handle the various jobs connected with grassland farming, the manufacturer's representative will be on hand to answer questions.

The program for the ladies will include canning clinic, freezing foods at home, meat and poultry cutting, quick tricks in preparing food and food for children.

Food and refreshments will be available on the grounds, so it will not be necessary to bring a picnic basket, unless you prefer to do so.

Free bus transportation about the farm and from and to parking areas will be available.

This event will be held on June 6, rain or shine. Why not invite your friends and come to the Grassland Field Day. Everyone is welcome!

Warren Has $46,600 Permits During April

According to figures from the Department of Labor and Industry in Harrisburg, building permits issued in Pennsylvania during April took a sharp rise over March, but estimated costs fell off 2.4 per cent.

Total permits issued for residence construction amounted to 2,740 at an estimated cost of over 27 million dollars. The total is higher than in 1951. Non-residential construction permits totaled 854, with an absence of major non-residential projects accounting for a decrease in dollar volume.

The report lists 12 permits issued in Warren during the month of April, with a total estimated cost of $45,600. Six of these were for new residential construction, totaling $45,000. Four were for new non-residential buildings with an estimated cost of $1,700, and two were for alterations and repairs to non-residential buildings with an estimated cost of $1,900.
